John J. Horton is Deputy Librarian of the University of Bradford and was formerly Chairman of its Academic Board of Studies in Social Sciences. He has maintained a longstanding interest in the discipline of area studies and its associated bibliographical problems, with special reference to European Studies. In particular he has published in the field of Icelandic and of Yugoslav studies, including the two relevant volumes in the World Bibliographical Series.

Robert A. Myers is Associate Professor of Anthropology in the Division of Social Sciences and Director of Study Abroad Programs at Alfred University, Alfred, New York. He has studied post-colonial island nations of the Caribbean and has spent two years in Nigeria on a Fulbright Lectureship. His interests include international public health, historical anthropology and developing societies. In addition to Amerindians of the Lesser Antilles: a bibliography (1981), A Resource Guide to Dominica, 1493-1986 (1987) and numerous articles, he has compiled the World Bibliographical Series volumes on Dominica (1987), Nigeria (1989) and Ghana (1991).

Ian Wallace is Professor of German at the University of Bath. A graduate of Oxford in French and German, he also studied in Tübingen, Heidelberg and Lausanne before taking teaching posts at universities in the USA, Scotland and England. He specializes in contemporary German affairs, especially literature and culture, on which he has published numerous articles and books. In 1979 he founded the journal GDR Monitor, which he continues to edit under its new title German Monitor.

Hans H. Wellisch is Professor emeritus at the College of Library and Information Services, University of Maryland. He was President of the American Society of Indexers and was a member of the International Federation for Documentation. He is the author of numerous articles and several books on indexing and abstracting, and has published The Conversion of Scripts and Indexing and Abstracting: an International Bibliography, and Indexing from A to Z. He also contributes frequently to Journal of the American Society for Information Science, The Indexer and other professional journals.

Ralph Lee Woodward, Jr. is Professor of History at Tulane University, New Orleans. He is the author of Central America, a Nation Divided, 2nd ed. (1985), as well as several monographs and more than seventy scholarly articles on modern Latin America. He has also compiled volumes in the World Bibliographical Series on Belize (1980), El Salvador (1988), Guatemala (Rev. Ed.) (1992) and Nicaragua (Rev. Ed.) (1994). Dr. Woodward edited the Central American section of the Research Guide to Central America and the Caribbean (1985) and is currently associate editor of Scribner's Encyclopedia of Latin American History.

THE WORLD BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SERIES

This series, which is principally designed for the English speaker, will eventually cover every country (and many of the world's principal regions), each in a separate volume comprising annotated entries on works dealing with its history, geography, economy and politics; and with its people, their culture, customs, religion and social organization. Attention will also be paid to current living conditions – housing, education, newspapers, clothing, etc. – that are all too often ignored in standard bibliographies; and to those particular aspects relevant to individual countries. Each volume seeks to achieve, by use of careful selectivity and critical assessment of the literature, an expression of the country and an appreciation of its nature and national aspirations, to guide the reader towards an understanding of its importance. The keynote of the series is to provide, in a uniform format, an interpretation of each country that will express its culture, its place in the world, and the qualities and background that make it unique. The views expressed in individual volumes, however, are not necessarily those of the publisher.

BIBLIOGRAPHIES	77
INDEX	79
MAP OF GUINEA	91

The main problem encountered when compiling this bibliography was the lack of published material, especially recent works, relating to Guinea. The World Bibliographical Series are intended to be selective and to cover all publications from all subject areas, in order to provide a balance of views of the country. However, this proved to be difficult and in some cases, such as history, I had to be more selective in the choice of sources than in other areas where I had trouble identifying any sources at all. There is very little writing on Guinea in English and unfortunately about half the items included are in French.

The vast majority of works on Guinea are by, or about, Ahmed Sékou Touré, the President, who, as leader of the Parti démocratique de Guinée (PDG), the Democratic Party of Guinea, led the country to independence in 1958 and remained in power until his death in 1984. Sékou Touré created a large number of publications, largely retrospective material, presenting his political views and achievements. Indeed, during the first part of his presidency many other writers hailed him as a hero, who, with his revolutionary policies, was saving the country from the clutches of a colonialist and capitalist system. However, in 1980, because of a period of economic stagnation and a lack of equality, he was overthrown and a new government was established. Since then, Sékou Touré's name has been used in a derogatory sense by the new government, which has been accused of repression, lack of democracy and corruption. This period of Sékou Touré's regime has generated many publications, written at the time or more recently, and I had to be fairly selective about which to include in order to avoid bias.

In contrast, writings about Guinea during the period under Lansana Conté since 1984 are noticeable by their absence. There is really very little of this material, which proved to be something of a problem when compiling this bibliography. I often had to look up whether or not to include a rather marginal or peripheral journal article, in the absence of any more substantial material.

The material are monographs, periodical articles and country or

- 223 Bibliographie critique des sources imprimées de l'histoire de la Guinée publiées avant 1914. (Annotated bibliography of printed sources on the history of Guinea published before 1914.)
Baba Ibrahima Kaké. Dakar: Université de Dakar, 1961. 72p. bibliog.
An annotated bibliography of historical works on Guinea, many by early travellers. Arranged in chronological order, the majority date from the end of the 19th century.
- 224 Bibliographie sur la Guinée. (Bibliography on Guinea.)
Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development, Development Centre. Paris: OECD, 1965. 46p. bibliog.
This bibliography was compiled in connection with a seminar on Economic Development held in Guinea in 1965. It covers books, documents and articles on Guinea and its economic development, and is divided into sections by subject. Unfortunately it is now very out of date, but nevertheless it includes a wealth of references.
- 225 Chronique de Guinée. (Guinea chronicle.)
Jean Suret-Canale. Cultures et Développement, vol. 10, no. 2 (1978), p. 297-314; vol. 15, no. 4 (1983), p. 743-65.
Two articles which discuss writings about Guinea. The first, written during Sekou Touré's government, when it was not prudent to be critical of the régime, assesses various material written about the country, of which there was not much. The second article, although in a publication dated 1983, was actually written after Sekou Touré's death in 1984, when the situation was quite different. The article assesses a number of writings on the country, its political future and its economy.
